Continued Excerpts from A Flourish and Apostolic Church, A Pastoral Letter from Bishop Edward C. Malesic

What we think of God and how we think of God matter. Our Catholic faith teaches us not simply that God loves, but that God is love. Love always requires more than one person; there is the lover, and there is the beloved, and then there is the love between the lover and the beloved. God reveals himself as a communion of love, as a communion of persons, as a communion of friendship, and as the mystery of the Most Holy Trinity. In the Trinity we and the Father who loves the Son, and the Son who loves the Father, and the Holy Spirit as the love proceeding from a community of love. He made us with a natural desire to be close to him. We are made and wired for God, we are made for perfect communion with him, and we are made for perfect friendship with him (Gen. 1:27). What was lost in the fall of Adam and Eve, we have been seeking to and once again: perfect communion with God and each other. Jesus came to extend God's hand in friendship to us.

An increasing number of people today, if they believe in God at all, do not think of God as a friend. Many people perceive God as irrelevant, or as cold and distant, and perhaps as a larger projection of their own father or some disappointing authority figure in their life who may have been absent, abusive, unresponsive, or simply inadequate. We human beings often conclude from our own heartbreaking experiences in this fallen world that we must fend for ourselves and heal ourselves, thinking that God lacks the will or the ability to help us, save us, or truly befriend us. Of course, these are lies, but they are easy to believe, especially if our experiences of love have been hurtful.

Jesus tells us, "I have called you friends" (Jn. 15:14). The reason Jesus was willing to endure the Cross of Calvary was that he desired to be in complete communion with us. He desired deep friendship with us, and he was willing to die to make it so. True love and true friendship are known by their willingness to make sacrifices for the other, to put the other first, and to will the good of the other. A true friend is someone who has seen you at your very worst and loves you anyway. A true friend is one who is even willing to die so that you may live. And that's the kind of friend we have in Jesus. The love of Jesus is lavish, beyond our imagination. Jesus' love is transformative.

Who of us doesn't appreciate the listening ear of a good friend? Who of us doesn't desire to be seen, known, and loved as we are, "warts and all," as they say? Who of us doesn't desire a friendship that never fails, that never ends, that bears all things, believes all things, hopes all things, and endures all things (1 Cor. 13:7)? Who of us doesn't simply enjoy being in the presence of one who loves us? And isn't it wonderful to know and love someone so well that, at times, just being together is enough and no words need to be spoken? My friends, this is the kind of friendship that God offers to us and desires to share with us in Jesus...

Sometimes we forget that the same Jesus who healed, performed miracles, and offered his grace and friendship in the Gospels is still doing all these things today in his Church, even and especially right here in the Diocese of Cleveland. We need to ask ourselves: Am I hungry for something better in life? Do I long for God more than life itself? Am I thirsty for what Jesus can give to me? Have I been drinking from wells that do not satisfy the deepest desires of my heart? Am I suffering from blindness to God? Can I see the Lord at work in my life? Am I suffering from deafness to God's call? Can I hear Jesus' voice when I pray? Am I suffering from paralysis, unable to move forward with God? Do my body and soul need some healing? Am I spiritually dead? Do I need to be brought back to life? Am I a sinner in need of forgiveness? Do I trust that Jesus is the Lamb of God who takes away the sins of the world? Do I believe that Jesus, risen from the dead, is with me right now? These are important questions, and we must be able to answer them honestly.

St. Luke Happenings

Jubilee Year?

What is that?

Pope Francis has declared 2025 as the Jubilee Year of Hope, a time of renewal, grace, and pilgrimage for the faithful. Rooted in the biblical tradition of Jubilee years, this special time invites us to deepen our faith, embrace God's mercy, and share the hope of Christ with the world. As part of this holy year, a plenary indulgence can be gained by visiting one of the designated pilgrimage sites in our diocese, including various shrines and sacred locations. To receive the indulgence, the usual conditions apply: Confession, Holy Communion, prayer for the Pope's intentions, and detachment from sin. In addition, the faithful are to complete one of the following acts of devotion: undertake a pious pilgrimage to a sacred site and devoutly participate in Holy Mass, Way of the Cross, engage in Eucharistic adoration and meditation, participate in a mission, spiritual exercises, or formation activities on the Second Vatican Council, take part in works of mercy and penance, such as visiting the sick, feeding the hungry, or observing the penitential nature of Friday. For more details on the Jubilee Year and how to gain the plenary indulgence, visit dioceseofcleveland.org/pilgrims-of-hope.

Each day many people come to St. Luke to visit our parish Blue Pantry Box, just outside the rectory. The need is great here in Lakewood. Next time you're at the store, consider picking up a couple extra items to place in our pantry box.

Can you help? We are in need Lectors and Eucharistic Ministers.

Our parish is in need of Lectors and Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion to assist at our weekend Masses. These ministries are essential to our worship, as lectors proclaim the Word of God and Eucharistic Ministers help distribute the Body and Blood of Christ. Those interested in becoming an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion must complete a diocesan training class, and upcoming sessions are available soon. In addition to serving at Mass, Eucharistic Ministers also have the special opportunity to bring Holy Communion to the sick and homebound, ensuring that all members of our community can receive the grace of the Eucharist. If you feel called to serve in one of these ministries, please contact Max Hall at mhall@stlukelakewood.org or via the parish office at 216-521-0184 for more information. Training will be provided, and scheduling is flexible. Thank you for considering this meaningful way to serve the Lord and our parish family!
